

Here are some great quotes I have come across that pertain to Human Factors. Send me some of your favorites.

cegeis@aol.com

“Our greatest weakness is habit. Our most lethal foe is routine.”

“Highly trained individuals really come alive when they are given free rein to put their training and finely honed skills to use.”

“Humans sometimes find logic has no standing when dealing with matters of their pride.”

“When death is a consequence the mind is forced to ponder it will grasp on to even the most improbable alternative. Death is not considered a viable option.”

“I see it every day, so often that I no longer see it anymore.”

“Stress is the fertilizer of creativity” by John Voight on “24”